

GAMBLING GETS ENCOURAGEMENT

Norfolk Poker Rooms Relieved of Prosecution by the Law.

THE JURY VISIT THE ROOMS

The Effect Will be to Throw Wide Open Dozens of Gambling Houses Long Closed.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., January 11.—On an appeal from the decision of the lower court, which fined them $1,000 and sentenced them to twelve months in jail for maintaining poker rooms, Hugh McKay and Robt. Mann were acquitted in the Corporation Court today. McKay and Mann are proprietors of palatial apartments, which they frequently acknowledged were used for the purpose of playing poker. They denied the right of the police to interfere with the game they conducted, and were arrested and convicted, but appealed with the above result.

The effect of the decision in the McKay-Mann case will cause the reopening of dozens of gambling houses, which have been closed for some time past.

The prosecution sought to show that a poker room constituted a public nuisance.

PRIVATE APARTMENTS. The defense offered no testimony. It was admitted through Judge D. Tucker Brooke, counsel for McKay and Mann, that the defendants conducted poker rooms, but it was contended that the rooms were their private apartments, and that the prosecution had no right to enter them at all times regulating who should and should not enter the places.

The court allowed the same instruction as was granted the State in the Duvall Highway case, providing for a conviction if the jury believed the place was one that people could resort to without hindrance for purposes of gambling. The defense asked for an instruction to the effect that the jury must believe that the place is a public place, and one that persons generally can enter without regulation on the part of the owners. This was allowed.

At the conclusion of the evidence for the State, Commonwealth's Attorney Tilton said he desired the jury to visit McKay's rooms on Commerce Street.

JURY VISITS POKER ROOMS. The court at once granted the request, and the jury was sent out in the custody of a deputy sergeant. When the jury arrived at the place, McKay and a colored porter were on hand to show the jurors through the apartments and explained to them anything about the rooms that they might desire to know.

The main poker room on the front, with its tables and elegant furnishings in general, were first entered. McKay designated the stud poker table from the ordinary tables and then asked Chief of Police Boush, who was present, if what the jury saw was not just like it when he visited the rooms before they were closed. The chief answered in the affirmative.

BIG CROWD AT STEWART TRIAL

who said she heard some hollering over the Manlove field that afternoon that sounded as if some one was working over there.

Witness said Annie brought a portion of the water used by the family. Witness said her brother previous to that time had missed some money, and that they were all of the opinion that the girl had taken it. Witness said that she was at home during the entire day of June 21st, and stated that the girl wore a blue dress when last seen by her.

Witness was here shown a scrap of calico and stated that it was something like that worn by the girl upon the day of her disappearance. Witness said she went to the orchard and called for the girl, and that the orchard was in the direction of Mr. Crowshaw's from her house.

Witness said she told her father at the supper table that night of hearing the hollering in the direction of the Manlove field, but that she did not hear her brother say anything about it that night.

Witness said it sounded as if it was made by some one driving a team. Witness was closely questioned in regard to what the hollering sounded like. Mr. Buford cunningly led the witness here, when she said Annie Bolling had never gone off before without her. Witness said that her father had gone to the Wyatts on Wednesday, the day he left home. Mr. Cooke took the witness in hand and asked as to her knowledge as to the time of day. Witness then said she passed the Manlove house on Butler Monday around the road, and that she went the road that leads from her house by Mrs. Chappell's north to the Manlove place. Witness said she was sure that some one was plowing in the Manlove field June 21st.

Annie Missing.

Witness said she was upset because Annie was missing. That she, Annie, never went anywhere without letting some member of the family know where she was going. Witness said she ate dinner that Tuesday about 12:30 o'clock. Witness said her father told them at home that he was going to Mr. Wyatts that afternoon to get him to help to grass feed. Witness said she was in the garden working cabbages when Annie left the house that afternoon, and stated that her father looked for the girl some that evening, but came back when it commenced to rain. Witness said that no one shed any tears over the disappearance or death of the girl.

Howard Crowshaw took the stand, and stated that he heard screaming on the day of the girl's disappearance about 3 o'clock. Witness said the screaming sounded as if it was by some one in trouble. Witness said he saw no smoke, but that direction during that day. Witness stated that he had plowed about a half-acre after going out to work in the afternoon before hearing the screaming. Witness said the horse he was plowing on that day was a very slow one, and said the screaming lasted five or ten minutes, then stopped suddenly.

Witness said it sounded like the voice of one of Mr. Stewart's boys, and that he did not mention hearing the screams until that night. Witness said he could have easily seen the smoke from the fire at the burnt district that afternoon.

Prisoner's Wife.

Mrs. Charles H. Stewart, wife of the prisoner, was recalled to the stand, and stated the relation between her husband and Mr. Sidney Harrison was very unpleasant at that time. Mr. Mann here offered as evidence before the court a report from the Secretary of Agriculture, Wilson, of Washington, showing the weather condition at Richmond during the 21st, 22d, 23d, 24th, 25th, 26th days of June, 1904; also the velocity and direction of the wind during each of the above mentioned days.

The defense here announced its purpose to rest the case. At 1 o'clock court adjourned for dinner.

Court was called to order at 2:25 o'clock. Mr. Cooke announced that the Commonwealth would offer several witnesses in rebuttal.

Willie Robinson was then called to the stand, and stated that no one did any work of any kind in the Manlove field on the 21st day of June. George Brown took the stand to testify as to whether or not he saw or could see smoke from the fire at the burnt district. Witness said he saw no smoke, but said he thought he could have seen it if the fire was there that day. Witness was working at Mr. Crowshaw's on that day.

Mr. Mann objected to this testimony as being along the line of evidence already introduced heretofore.

Mr. Buford argued the matter at some length. Court excluded the testimony for the time.

W. J. Crowder said, in rebuttal, that there was no blind road leading to or from the burnt area to the Manlove field; also that he did not see the scrap of burnt clothing said to have been hanging from the hickory limb on Tuesday of the 21st.

Spencer Crowshaw took the stand. He testified as to the time he usually got to work during the busy season of the year. Mr. Mann objected to this question as being answered. Counsel on both sides went into quite a lengthy argument over the matter. Judge West decided to send the jury out, and hear the testimony as he may decide upon the matter later.

Mr. Crowshaw was then allowed to state that his rule during the summer months was to ring his bell at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Crowshaw took the stand at this time, and said she rang the bell at each day at 1:30 o'clock for the hands to go to work.

The Commonwealth rested the case, and at 4:20 o'clock court adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow in order to settle the matter of its instructions to the jury.

HORSEMEN MEET.

New President for the Prince William Association.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

MANASSAS, VA., Jan. 11.—The annual stockholders' meeting of the Prince William Horseman's Association was held here on yesterday. Mr. C. A. Heinke, of Haymarket, who has been president of the association since its organization, was defeated for re-election by Mr. W. N. Lippcomb, of Manassas. J. P. Leachman was elected treasurer in the place of Mr. Westwood Hutchinson, resigned.

Mr. C. A. Heinke and Hon. Thomas H. Lion lost their offices as directors to Mr. P. V. Porter and Mr. J. Jenkins Davies.

The officers for the coming year are: W. N. Lippcomb, president; J. W. Prescott, first vice-president; J. W. Prescott, second vice-president; A. O. Porter, third vice-president; J. P. Leachman, treasurer; J. Jenkins Davies, secretary; Thomas H. Lion, manager; and A. O. Porter, W. A. Buckley, J. W. Prescott, D. P. Edwards, J. E. Herrell, D. J. Arrington, R. H. Haydon, W. N. Lippcomb, P. V. Porter and J. Jenkins Davies, directors.

A petition is in circulation amongst the citizens of Manassas asking in effect a bond issue in the sum of $50,000 for the purpose of establishing a high school and for street improvement for the town. The Town Council are in favor of the bond issue, and it is thought that the question will carry when it comes before the voters.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

Couple Kept Wedding Secret When There Was No Objection.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LYNCHBURG, VA., Jan. 11.—An instance of the romantic turn of the mind is illustrated by the secret marriage of Joseph Logwood and Miss Sarah Virginia DeWitt, at the home of Rev. J. P. Luck, of Bedford county, on the 8th of last November. Mr. Logwood, formerly of Bedford, is with the Roanoke Furniture Company, of this city, and his wife is the daughter of Mr. Lafayette DeWitt, a well known and successful tobaccoist here. She has many friends here and in Bedford, where she is widely known. They being no objection whatever to the match on the part of the parents, the secrecy of the marriage was, due absolutely to a romantic idea decided upon by the happy pair. An informal reception was held last night at the home of the bride's parents.

BRER FOX LED A MERRY CHASE

Found Refuge at a Strange Door in Another County.

PACK CLOSE AT HIS HEELS

A Note in a Bottle Tied Around Neck of One of the Dogs Rejected Facts to Its Master.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SCOTTSVILLE, VA., January 11.—Dr. C. W. Anderson, a dentist of Scottsville, was much surprised on reaching his home some miles below here one evening recently to find a large red fox at his door with his tongue hanging out "Brer Fox" having been run down by a pack of thirteen hounds. No one was with the dogs. The fox looked as if he might have run twenty miles.

Dr. Anderson took possession of the fox and also took the animal and fed them, shutting them in for the night. Next morning he loosed the pack with a note containing the facts in the case around the neck of one of the dogs.

LETTER IN A BOTTLE. Later Dr. Anderson received the following letter:

Palmyra, Va.

Dear Sir:—Your note in bottle safely delivered, and we are much gratified to hear from you and to get our dogs back safely. If they hadn't come, we would have been all through that country in a few days.

We started that fox that morning, a little after sunrise, near Keswick. He crossed Rivanna River near Union Mills and Hardware, near Mr. Henry Kidd's, the last we heard of them.

THE DOGS. You wanted to know whose dogs they were. M. R. and E. F. Hudson's, Robert and George Mouchens's and others. You will please answer this and tell us what time it was when they caught the fox; how many dogs were there, and if you saw them run any; what dog was leading, as near as you can describe him, and anything else you feel like saying.

Yours truly, M. R. HADEN.

A large barn on Plain Dealing farm, six fine horses, a quantity of harness, and a number of farming implements, all the property of W. W. Wilmer, were destroyed by fire on Sunday night, between 10 and 11 o'clock.

BROKE HIS LEG. John Meade, colored, while assisting Senator F. C. Moon with his luggage on board of No. 1 Sunday, fell and broke his leg. Dr. W. C. Williams is attending the injured man, who is getting on very well.

The stockholders of the Scottsville National Bank met Tuesday and re-elected the following directors: J. L. Pitts, William Dorrier, A. L. Pitts, H. J. Lane, D. H. Pitts. The present officers, William Dorrier, president, and Walter S. Dorrier, cashier, were re-elected by the directors.

MOVED WITH GRIEF. Dr. and Mrs. Boatwright Have Sympathy of College Community

The whole community of Richmond College has been deeply moved with grief over the death of Frederic Boatwright, son of President F. W. Boatwright, at the home of his grandfather, in Buckingham county. At a call of Professor Hunter, the faculty met yesterday morning, with Professor Winston in the chair, and selected Professor Gaines to attend the funeral as bearer of messages of sympathy to President Boatwright, carried with him a beautiful floral offering from the members of the faculty. The students, to manifest their sympathy for the president and his wife, contributed generously to secure roses for the funeral. Many are the expressions of grief heard among the students, with whom Frederic was a general favorite.

As a mark of respect to the memory of the lad, its bright young student, the Richmond Academy suspended its work yesterday at 12:30 o'clock. Brief remarks reflecting the deep feeling were made by Professor Oliver Thraves, James and Foushee. With especial grace and tenderness did Professor James speak of the pupil whom he loved and already missed, and who had to his credit the record of always having done his school duties and with enthusiasm.

Stupleton Gooch and John Ryland, friends and schoolmates, were detailed by Dean W. L. Foushee to attend the funeral, bearing a beautiful offering of flowers from the Academy, to express their universal sympathy to Fred's father and mother.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED. Police Commissioners Express Regret at Capt. Ainslie's Action.

The question of the removal of the detectives' headquarters from the Sixth Street Station back to the City Hall, was not settled by the Police Board at the meeting last night, but was referred to a committee of three—Messrs. Manning, Duke and Myers.

The resignation of Commissioner Ainslie was received and accepted with regrets, and a committee was appointed to draw suitable resolutions in regard to it. The Board was in session but a short while.

Radium and Liquid Air. Professor Patty will reach the city tomorrow morning with his liquid air and thermometers near the tanks will drop under 100 and he got his steel well melted with freeze, and strawberries will become as hard as bullets and as brittle as chalk. Professor Patty will bring some tubes of radium of a quality costing over five million dollars per pound. Radium! What is it? It gives constant heat and light and it is said that it will last for a million of years, and it ought to, since one pound of it costs more than two warships, and is to be mined when two-thirds of the landowners have signed a form of agreement adopted. Resolutions were adopted insisting on at least thirty-three and one-third per cent. reduction of the crop, and holding the remainder of last year's crop.

COTTON GROWERS Organize With Colonel John S. Cunningham as President.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

RALEIGH, N. C., January 11.—The North Carolina Cotton Growers' and Business Men's Association was organized here tonight, with John S. Cunningham as president and T. H. Parker business agent. Delegates—one from each cotton growing county—were named for the national convention.

The plan provides for township organization, and is to be binding when two-thirds of the landowners have signed a form of agreement adopted. Resolutions were adopted insisting on at least thirty-three and one-third per cent. reduction of the crop, and holding the remainder of last year's crop.

THE LEGISLATURE. Senate Called to Order by the New Lieutenant-Governor.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 11.—The Senate and House were in session about an hour prior to the inaugural ceremonies, and held short sessions just after the inauguration. The Senate being called to order by the new Lieutenant-Governor, Francis D. Winston.

In the Senate the bill to prevent partition in the county misappropriation funds was defeated.

The House passed an omnibus bill for the relief of sheriffs, providing for the collection of back taxes to $500,000. Gale, of Halifax, introduced a bill prohibiting women and children under eighteen to work more than ten hours a day.
